Europe Ambition International Conference 2030

The celebrations of the Sixtieth Anniversary of the Rome Treaties are a great opportunity to launch a process to build a new vision for Europe and a metamorphosis of the European Union based on the values and objectives defined by the Agenda 2030. The implementation of the SDGs should become a key leverage for achieving the aims (“promote peace, its values and the wellbeing of its peoples”) of the Union as set up in the article 3 of the Treaty.

The Conference, that will take place in Rome, shall be introduced by the President of the Chamber of Deputies, Honorable Laura Boldrini and shall see the participation of high level officials of the European Institutions as well as representatives of leading civil society organizations.

The Symposium shall be an opportunity to discuss how European State and Non-State actors should change to become “champions” of the SDGs and demonstrate, in the current times of anxiety, uncertainty and temptations to self-withdrawal, that the European political, financial, economic and cultural leaderships can get together to make the EU “the” world champion of sustainable development and, in this way, fight against the risks of economic disintegration, global protectionism and social conflicts.
